

[The origins of the Bible are not well known. Nonetheless, it is known that there were many books considered for inclusion but rejected. Shown here is my take on what a Biblical rejection letter might have sounded like.]

Dear Author:

We thank thee for thy manuscript, # XXIII-IV, submitted to The Holy Bible. We hath received many excellent submissions for consideration for this important compilation of God's word. Unfortunately, space limitations prevent us from publishing many worthy manuscripts. Thus, we must regretfully decline to publish thy work.

We thank thee for considering The Holy Bible and wish thee the best as thy pursue publication of this work elsewhere.

Sincerely,

The Editor
